Software Developer (Entry-Level)

Traction

Toronto, ON

About Traction Design Group

Traction Design Group (TDG) is a next generation digital consultancy. We are dedicated to solving complex business problems for our clients with creative and forward-thinking solutions. Our employees enjoy a culture built on innovation and a commitment to creating best-in-class digital products in use by hundreds of millions of consumers around the world. We hire exceptionally smart, analytical, and hard working people who are lifelong learners.

Software Developer (Entry Level)

As an entry level Software Developer you'll be tasked with working on both mobile and web applications. Working within the software development team, your duties will require you to assist in the development of consumer applications. This role is ideal for entry level developers who feel confident in their technical ability and want to be apart of the highly-skilled development team at TDG.

Responsibilities

- Write maintainable, testable, and performant software in collaboration with our world class team
- Participate in code review and performing extensive testing to ensure high quality software
- Research new technology and tools and share those findings with the team
- Communicate clearly and effectively with all members of our team

Successful candidates will have

- Experience programming in .net or C#
 - Graduated from a Computer Science, Software Engineering, or similar program
 - Experience creating either web or native mobile applications
 - Experience developing eCommerce solutions
 - Strong command of important programming and computer science concepts
 - Fundamental knowledge of core web principals (HTTP, the DOM, SSL, web servers)
 - Great interpersonal skills - we work very closely together as a team and require a lot of communication
 - Proactive personality and a desire to deliver your best work

Mr. John Pettifor
General Manager
Traction Design Group
30 Wellington Street West, Toronto, ON M1L 1L5

Re: Software Developer (Entry-Level)

Mr. Pettifor,

It is with great interest that I submit my cover letter and resume in response to your exciting opportunity as a Software Developer (Entry-Level), which was advertised on your www.indeed.ca. I have experience with software programming in C, C++ and Java. I am completing a Diploma in Software Engineering Technology in April 2019 and I achieved a Bachelor of Degree of Computer Applications. Traction Design Group is a fast growing and well known for its products and services. I would be proud to be a part of your team.

At my previous work experience, I gained extensive abilities in software testing, code review, write maintainable and testable software, research new tools and techniques along with ability to participate in a team environment as we were more than 200 professionals in different fields working together. The attached resume includes more information about my skills and experience.

I would welcome the opportunity to attend an interview to discuss my qualifications for this position in person. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Manpreet Singh

What's your STAR ACHIEVEMENTS? (at least 7.....)
....ie: teamwork, leadership, technical skills, trouble-shooting, web-design, customer support, customer-service, etc.

STAR 1: Go-through semi finals

Situation: During a semi-final cricket match, my team was facing a critical situation where opponents require only 5 runs from one over and none of us want to take the responsibility.
Target: defend the target and win the semi-final match.

Action: I took the initiative and asked for a chance to bowl the final over.
Result: luckily, we won the match by 1 run. Our team successfully proceed to the next stage of competition and it enhanced my self-confidence.

STAR 2: old database to new

Situation: an old database and program need an update
Target: convert to current technology and preserve data
Action: migrated DB2 data to SQL; reprogrammed COBOL to java
Result: with improved performance, on schedule, and saved money

STAR 3: increasing students attendance

Situation: During my third year of college, I was elected Vice President for Professional Programs for my student association. The duties of the position included securing speakers for our meetings, advertising the programs to the campus community, introducing speakers, and evaluating each program.

Target: Previous attendance at meetings had decreased substantially due to a decrease in the overall student population. The goal was to implement programs to address the professional development of our association and increase attendance by 45% compared to the prior year's figures.

Action: I assembled a team to help with the program design and speaker selection. I developed a survey to determine the members' professional interests and ideas for possible speakers and topics. My team and I had each member complete the survey. Then we randomly selected members for a focus group interview. I had learned about this research technique in my marketing class and thought it would help us identify why attendance had dropped

Result: Because of the information we gathered from the surveys and interviews, we selected speakers for the entire year, produced a brochure describing each program and the featured speaker. Under my leadership, attendance increased 75% over the previous year.

STAR 4: Final Presentation

Situation: we were due to be delivering a group presentation in front of five external examiners along with some big companies who were there for recruitment during final year in my bachelor's degree. One of our team members who is going to deliver it got stuck in transport.

Target: it was my responsibility to find an alternative so that it didn't reflect badly on the examiners and the companies and we didn't waste the opportunity.

Action: I spoke to the organizing professor to find out that if they can change the running order. They agreed and we brought ourselves some time. I contacted the next group who is going to present after our presentation, and they agreed present before their scheduled time.
Result: we didn't make the presentation on time but we presented it successfully and warmly received by the examiners.

STAR 6: redesigning inventory control system

Situation: while working at BadBoy Furnitures warehouse I realized that the system for managing shipments, maintaining inventories and tracking distinct sales was outdated, which resulted in delayed order fulfillment and a high volume of order cancelations.
Target: update the inventory control system for providing better customer services.
Action: migrated the traditional inventory system to automated computerized system to provide a better experience and comparatively fast performance.
Result: with improved performance, within several months the company's on-time fulfillment soared from 60% to 85% with a considerable decline in customer's complaints.

STAR 7: New admission strategy

Situation: while working as a coordinator at Tara Convent School, I realized that the admission system is outdated because it includes paper work which was done by staff members for a single student at a time. It was a time-consuming system which sometimes resulted in frustration for people who are waiting in line just for filling a single form for admission which supposed to be completed within 10-20 minutes. On the other hand, as an individual is filling hundreds of forms in a single day, there may be some mistakes.
Target: change the admission system for proving an efficient system and save time.
Action: I came up with a system in which there were some tablets on front desk with a simple web form on them. When anyone came in for admission, there were our one or two team members who handed it in to the clients and help them in completing the application.
Result: The new admission system was appreciated by management and by clients as well because it is easy and time saving. Every student is responsible for adding his own information to the computer which will be automatically saved to a single database from where the management can keep track of it.

STAR 8: helped one of my colleagues to claim his health insurance

Situation: while working as a coordinator at Tara Convent School one of my colleagues was facing a problem as Disability insurance conglomerate refused to recognize a claimant's disability and refuses to acknowledge his right to payments.
Target: Get the insurance company to do the right thing
Action: I continually challenged the decision process through letters and phone conversations with the insurance company, engaged decision makers from the employer's office in fighting for the correct determination, and completed a calling campaign to detail each step of the erroneous and inappropriate decision process. I submitted the findings to a disability law firm.
Result: The insurance company awarded back payments and scheduled the proper future payments for the claimant.
